

Swine Flu Contingency

Ventcroft Ltd, like many businesses in the UK, is reviewing contingency plans with regard to Swine Flu and after consultation with our health and safety specialists, we have been advised to follow the information shown on the NHS Direct web pages for the present time.

All employees have received the information leaflet circulated by the Government advising everyone to take extra care with regard to personal hygiene, and the disposal and use of paper tissues etc. This will be further emphasised by our Health and Safety Officer and in particular, preventative advice is being given with regard to the use of shared spaces such as offices and canteens, where viruses can be easily incubated and spread.

Further advice regarding symptoms is also being given so that all staff are fully informed of what to look out for in the case of sickness, and what an employee should do if they suspect they may have become infected, or are worried if they have had contact with someone who is confirmed to be infected, so that medical advice and a correct course of treatment is followed without delay.

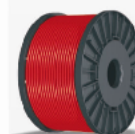

With regard to our manufacturing facilities, we operate a split shift system with a multi-skilled workforce and rota systems in sales and distribution, and are confident we are well placed to deal with staff sickness. We use a number of different road haulage carriers, as well as our own delivery vehicles and do not anticipate interruptions in supply to our Customers.

Swine Flu advice given by the Government is constantly being updated as the virus and its intensity, or otherwise, spreads. We are monitoring this situation very carefully and will be updating our advice to staff, customers and suppliers as necessary.

As a key supplier to your business, we will endeavour to maintain our high level of service and commitment at all times.
